ABOUT

Born in Nellore and raised with a deep love for performance — his father was also a theatre artist — Pawon Ramesh relocated to Hyderabad and enrolled in a Theatre Arts diploma programme at the University of Hyderabad. Before graduating, he had already performed over 250 times on stage, in productions including Miss Meena (87 performances) and Adventures of Chinnari (43 performances), across stages from Ravindra Bharathi to cities across India.

His theatre training gives him something screen actors often lack: physical command. That quality shows in every role he takes. His short film Arcotia won the Meraki Film Festival Award for Best Short Film, introducing a wider audience to what those who'd seen him on stage already knew — this is a serious actor.
